

Beyond Bubbles and Blocks

Tips for MA EI Home Visitors

Did you know...

The EI Training Center is releasing a new BDI-2 online module on Friday, September 8th. This module will focus on standardized structured procedure. Participants will learn through video examples, and information excerpted from the BDI-2 Examiner's Manual. Tips and techniques will also be shared! This module will also include a video glossary of items being demonstrated to fidelity. Please see our website at www.eitrainingcenter.org to register.

Newly Created Resources...

Tips and Techniques...

As programs continue to learn and implement the PIWI philosophy, we have been asked for resources that support how to discuss the philosophy of MA EI home visiting with families. We heard you!

The EI Training Center along with the EI Parent Leadership Project has developed a one-page flyer that providers may use, with eligible families to help explain MA EI home visits. During the process of creating this sheet, we asked for input from programs around the State, as well as from families currently enrolled in EI. This sheet is not a requirement but rather a resource that programs and providers can use when working with families. It will help families to better understand what EI in MA is all about. The flyer can be found here...

Evaluation/ Assessment tip

The training center has also developed a BDI-2 "Grab and Go," which can be found on our website at...

development/training-

materials). This "Grab and Go" is a resource developed to support EI specialists in learning about the BDI-2 fidelity checklist as a tool.

Through the use of PowerPoint and video examples, participants will learn what the fidelity checklist is, and how it can be used as a tool to identify observable errors in the administration of the BDI-2.

In addition, this resource may also help you to better understand your program's current and future BDI-2 SSIP data.
